"The morning ML fix worked. The afternoon was the payoff."

Executive Summary

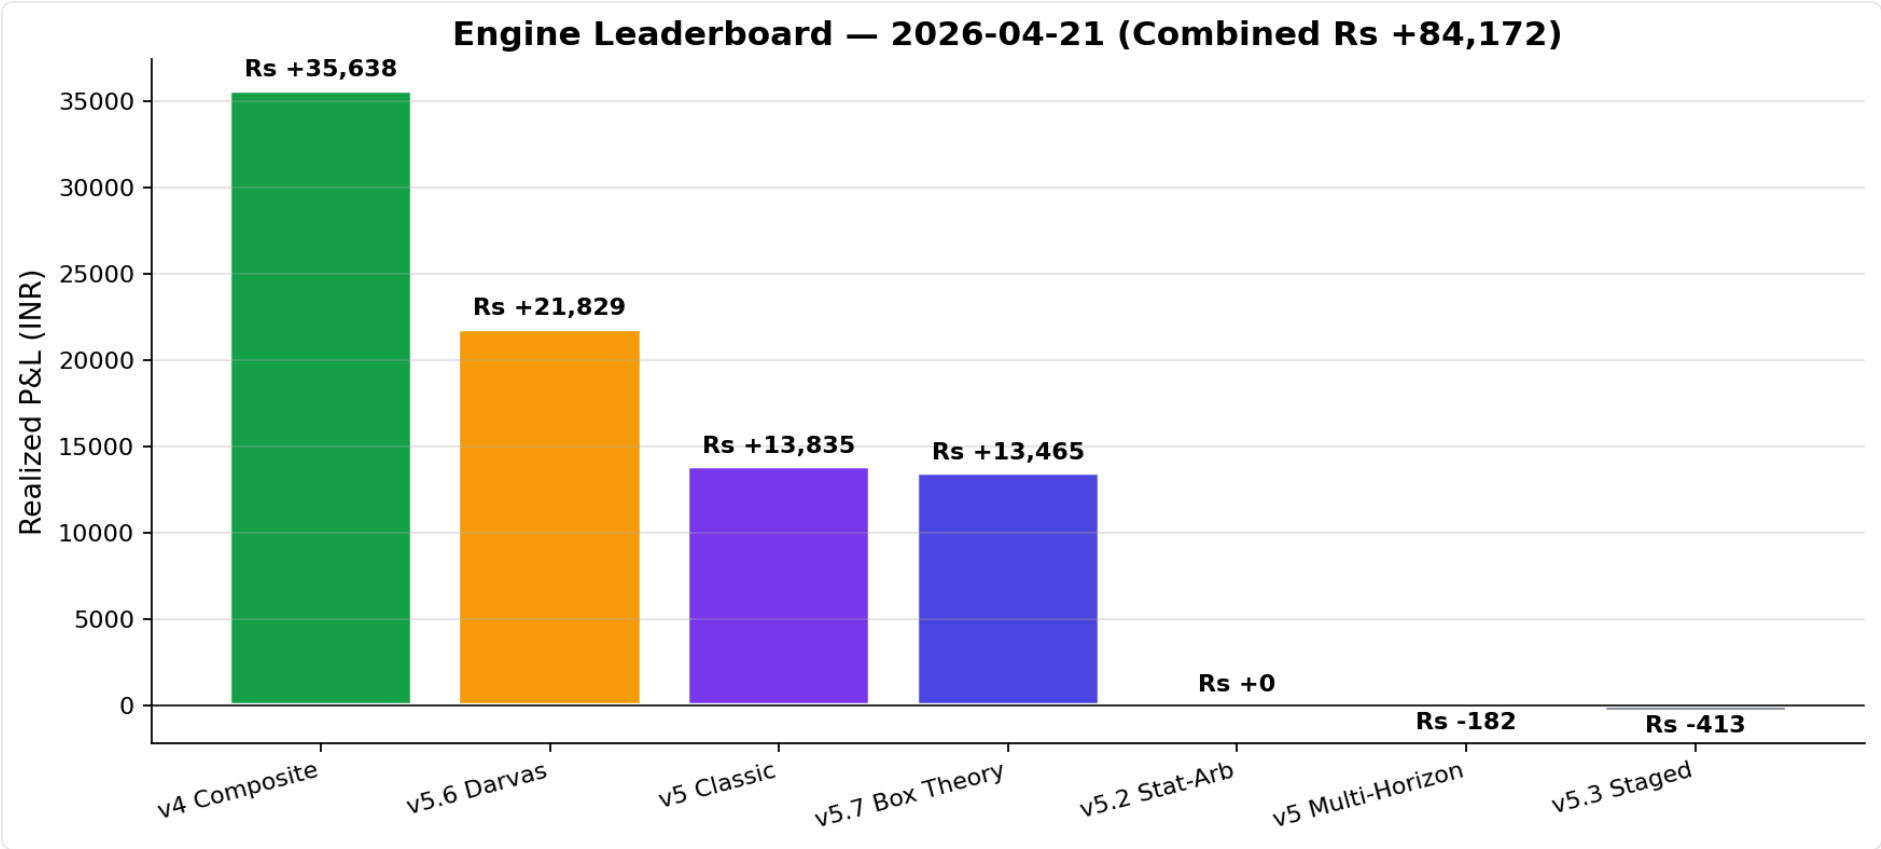

Date	Tuesday, 2026-04-21 · 09:15 – 15:15 IST
Engines	7 (v4, v5, v5_classic, v5.2, v5.3, v5.6, v5.7)
Combined P&L	Rs +84,172 across 387 trades
Winner	v4 Composite · Rs +35,638 · 85% WR
A/B verdict Day 2	v5_classic beats v5 by Rs +14,017 (widened from Day 1)
ML model status	best_iteration=1,726 · india_vix #1 feature · retrained 08:24 IST
Author	Soumya Swain · soumya@sidewall.in Today was the first full day trading on the retrained ML model (fixed 08:24 IST with random val split + loosened regularization). The result: 4 engines posted wins over Rs 13,000, with win rates between 85–92%. The A/B test on v5 vs v5_classic now has 2 consecutive days of data — the pre-Rust classic keeps beating the hardened current version.

🎯 Headline Result: 85%+ Win Rate Across Top 4

v4 closed at 85% WR on 102 trades, v5.6 at 87%, v5.7 at 85%, v5_classic at 88%. This is the consistency we've been chasing since April 10. The common factor: all four use the same fresh ML model with restored india_vix importance. The stale-model regime from April 11–17 is gone.

Top-4 Head-to-Head: v4 vs v5.6 vs v5_classic vs v5.7

Four metrics · P&L, win rate, trade count, avg per-trade

Interpretation: v4 leads on total P&L (Rs +35,638) driven by a larger position book (102 trades). v5.6 and v5.7 are quality leaders — fewer trades, higher per-trade P&L, and comparable win rates. v5_classic sits in the middle — the A/B test engine proves the pre-Rust code still has edge. This suggests a portfolio construction: v4 as the volume play, v5.6/v5.7 as the selective overlay.

A/B Test Day 2 – v5 vs v5_classic

Same ML model. Same market. Same capital. Only the Rust integration differs.

Day 1 (Monday): v5_classic led by Rs 4,950. Day 2 (today): the gap grew to Rs +14,017. v5 took only 10 trades all day (5W/5L) — deeply conservative. v5_classic took 90 trades (79W/11L) — wider engagement, higher win rate, more P&L captured.
